TIME TO GET TOUGH WITH TERRORISTS...

MOVING? Please use form inside paper and give full information. Mailing list is run on Friday for following week.

The latest display of terrorism, which happened in Holland, seems to be a perfect example of this type of insane behavior and we feel that it is essential to a lot of credit for the way they handled the situation. So long as governments anywhere knuckle under to these international outlaws, it will continue and while some innocent people get hurt & killed it seems like a price civilization must pay to stop this sort of thing.

The average American knows little or nothing about what the Moluccan Mess is all about and when you get down to the actual facts it is plumb ridiculous. South Molucca is corner of Indonesia, which was given up by the Dutch a long time ago and in the course of being set up as an independent country they went through some bloodbaths quite similar to what is taking place in Africa right now. The heart of complaint, which has triggered two terrorist attacks in Holland, is the fact that some 40,000 Moluccan refugees in Holland wanted to slice off their part of the country and make it an independent state.

Mason Rancher Says Group Is Opposed To Beef Research Proposal

Mason-A Texas Research and Information Committee on the Beef Refinement has been formed recently, composed of cattle producers, sellers from throughout Texas to bring to light non-published facts about the provisions of the Beef Research and Information Act (Public Law 94-294).

"The Committee believes," states David Kothmann, chairman, "that the provisions of the Act have not been fully disclosed, and two of the most important are the provisions for enforcement and investigation of violations. The Act is explicit on these matters.

Kothmann declared that the severity of the enforcement provision of this Act "is as clear as the nose on your face."

He further pointed out that he sees no argument with anyone as to the need for solutions to the complex beef industry problems, but his Committee feels that this referendum is not the answer to those problems.

The beef industry will decide its own fate July 6th through 15th.

May Placements Highest in Four Years, Marketings in May 1% Over Last Year, 27% Higher than Placements in 1975

Washington, June 14 (USDA) - Cattle and calves on feed June 1 for slaughter market in the seven states preparing monthly estimates totaled 1,058,000 head, down 3% from a year ago but 21% more than June 1, 1975, according to the Crop Reporting Board. The number on feed June 1 was below a year ago in four of the seven states.

May placements of cattle and calves on feed in the seven states totaled 1,058,000, the highest May placements during the last four years, 21% more than May last year and 4% greater than May 1975. Placements were above last year in six of the seven states. Other disapperness totaled 253,000, compared with 100,000 in May last year. Movement out of feedlots to pasture was unusually heavy due to favorable grazing conditions in the central and southern plains states.

Estimates in this cattle on feed report were based on data provided voluntarily by cattle feeder. The Statistical Reporting Service maintains an up-to-date list of cattle feeders stratified by feedlot capacity. Data are collected by mail and by personal and telephone interviews on or about the 1st day of each survey period. Survey procedures are designed to obtain reports from all feeders in the larger size strata, and feeders in the small size strata are sampled. Of the total inventory of cattle on feed for this report 70% was actually reported in the survey.

state. They lost this war and while they have been taken in by the Dutch, they refuse to become Dutch nationals for the most part.

The ridiculous part of the whole mess is explained by one Johan Alvarez Manuama, self-proclaimed president in exile, who says few of the Moluccans in Holland are interested in moving back to their native land, even if they had the opportunity. The reason is that life in Holland offers considerably more opportunity and creature comforts.

It seems in staging these terrorist raids, the bulk of the trouble is caused by the younger Moluccans and on the basis of Manuama's statement, they are apparently more interested in raising hell than they are in actually going back to the old homeland. They blame the Dutch for not putting pressure on the present regime to liberate Molucca, a matter of considerable doubt as to whether the Dutch could effectively intercede. If the Dutch did try to meddle in what was once a colonial possession and which they freed, you can imagine the uproar that would take place all over the world. Gentle persuasion would not get much done with the present Moluccan Government, which is Indonesia.

The South Moluccan Islands were one of the first colonized by the Dutch and the natives became protestants and became loyal to the Dutch monarchy, and many of them fought in the Dutch army. When Holland turned the islands over to the Indonesian forces, these Moluccan-Dutch were considered traitors by Indonesians and they were forced to take refuge in Holland. Holland is blamed for their situation, but it is hard to see just what Holland could have done about it.

Meanwhile, we have had another nasty act of terrorism and they promise more. This terrorist bizzness seems to be partly well established in all parts of the world and in most cases the terrorists' chances of getting more than publicity seems rather dim. Regardless of how solid these minorities claim to be, the powers that control the likely to be moved.

Some resolute countries refuse to deal with terrorists, and it seems like this should be true everywhere if this useless slaughter is to be stopped. Execution of terrorists should be automatic. It's kind of like pulling weeds. You may have to pull a few other weeds, but not with this tickler one.

Ever thine,
The Editor.

P.S.: Uncle Dunk notes when they find out what was in the much and with whom America is eating, they figure they'll be straighten you & me out. Dunk says they figure to start him off on another project where they say they are about as full as a barrel of Dunk notes that cattlemen are concerned about our growing "burger society" and how it affects the future. Dunk's ever hear of McDonald's, and they are now beef cattle for the sole purpose of getting fat & lean in proper proportion. Burrows BIF Seedstock Breeder of Year

BURROWS

Glenn Burrows, a Polled Hereford breeder from Clayton, N.M., has been selected Beef Improvement Federation (BIF) Seedstock Breeder of the Year for 1977, according to Bob de Bacs, BIF National Secretary.

The New Mexico rancher and his wife Missie are recognized throughout America for the outstanding job they have done in breeding high performing Polled Herefords. The Clayton Numodes and the Princess Numodes have made rather than met, competition in official test and customer herds. Burrows, active in the American Polled Hereford Association's Guide Lines Program, a within herd record plan, also tests bulls on APHA's Superior Sire Program.

The homestead on which Burrows was born is part of the 10,000 acre ranch built entirely from his cattle income. Burrows purchased his foundation cattle after his 1953 graduation from Oklahoma State University, and his intensive performance selection dates to 1950.

Burrows is a charter member and a past president of Performance Registry International. He helped organize and sponsor the Tucumcari, New Mexico bull test and has continually participated in feed trials and performance leadership across the industry. De Bacs further commented, "Glenn Burrows is widely known and highly respected as a pioneer performance breeder and a leader of men. It is fitting that he receive this most deserved recognition."

Anyone interested in the beef cattle industry is cordially invited to attend and participate in the judging contest and other festivities. For further information and entry forms, contact Texas Polled Hereford Association, Box 70, Rio Vista, Texas 76088, 817/873-2524. Entries close for the Preview Show on June 10, 1977. The Texas Brangus Breeders Assn. held their annual summer meeting in Kerrville, June 2. The 1977-78 Texas Brangus Directory is off the press and anyone wanting a copy free of charge contact the TBBA office, P. O. Box 870, Sealy, Texas 77474. "On Rural Youth Day (Oct. 8th), we expect around 2,000 participants to compete in these four events—junior quarter horse judging, and junior grass judging, junior dairy judging, and junior livestock judging," said John Emmons, Supr. of the livestock and agricultural division of the Fair.

Some of the prize money will go to winners of the FFA Farm Mechanics Project show. Emmons said belt buckles will be awarded to high individuals in the judging events. Trophies or banners to the winning teams.

July 15, 1977 is the deadline for ownership of all animals. Deadline for all livestock entries is September 15, 1977.

Brangus. The Ideal Mother In Any Country.

Look at the Brangus cow. She combines the outstanding maternal traits of both the Brahman and Angus to produce a quality calf with uniformity and rapid growth to weaning. She can do all of this predictably because Brangus are not top-crossed. Brangus are derived from registered Brahman and Angus cattle.

The Brangus cow is ADAPTABLE. Because Brangus will grow all the hair they need in winter, Brangus cows survived the 1978 New Mexico blizzards. And they survived with more of their calves than the Herefords running with them. Yet Brangus maintain the summer heat tolerance of their Brahman forebears. Under friendlier conditions, Brangus outperform other breeds.

Brangus cows are PROFITABLE. They inherit milking ability, longevity and easy calving from the Brahman, early puberty and high fertility from the Angus. This makes Brangus America's Number 1 Brood Cow. She is ready to breed at 15 months, and calve right on schedule as a two year old. Her milking ability—and the growth rate of her calf—take over then and deliver weaning weights that top other breeds by 75 to 100 pounds. And tests show that heavy, good doing, heavy weaning Brangus calves have outstanding performance in the feedlot.

Take a good look at the advantages that come from carefully combining the hardiness of Brahman with the efficiency and carcass quality of Angus. Look at a Brangus cow...She's the ideal mother...in any country.

The Heart of America Juniors now have a very active association; the Oklahoma Juniors are active enough that they had an International Junior Brangus Show at the Field Day May 29 held at Musgrove's Bar A Ranch at Bokchito, Okla.; the Southeastern association juniors will organize at the

The Circle Seven Repurchase Program.

It makes common cents.

We are selling an excellent group of young, registered Angus cows bred to top bulls. If you buy 30 or more of these cows under our repurchase program, we will buy back the calves, provide bulls for the next breeding season and buy that calf crop. We are interested in a long-term business arrangement.

Let us show you how the Circle Seven Repurchase Program can make common cents for both of us. Call us today at 817/567-2045.

Field Day at Delhi, La. on July 9; and the Texas Association Juniors are fully organized and among other projects they are training a judging team who will soon hit the road to judging events across the country; and the Junior Brangus Futurity in Fredericksburg week before last had Junior cattle entered from Texas, Arizona, Oklahoma, Colorado, Louisiana, Missouri, California and Kansas. The grand champion honors this year went to Kelly Ann McJunkin of Duncanville, Texas, on her cow MF Bar Carson. As an additional award she was presented a check for $500 given by Ludwig and Judy Brand of Brand's Brangus, Round Top, Texas. Ludwig & Judy say they will make this an annual award to the junior futurity champion heifer owner. They also purchased Kelly Ann's cow the following day in the Miss America sale, which makes two years in a row that the Brand's have purchased the champion from one of our juniors.

Another junior, Jeff Turner, from Thorndale, sold a heifer in the Miss America sale purchased by J. W. Hastings Ranch. This was the same heifer who was grand champion in the junior show in Houston last February, and who received the $500 cash award from us (Matt & Ann Syler). I can say from the bottom of my heart that this is the most rewarding thing anyone can do personally—present an award to the kids. Jeff's mother tells me that he is using his award from us for the purchase of a squeeze chute for the family—something they have long needed. This folks, is what warms the heart.

Other awards for youngsters at Kerrville—Bill Cawley, 11-year-old from Eldorado, Texas, was the top showman in the under 13-year-old age; Cheryl Moonen, Austin, Texas, won the top showman in the over 13-age group, and each received a beautiful hand-crafted Brangus leather buckle. The junior champion heifer and reserve grand champion heifer was won by Robert Eller, Bryan, Texas (and we kid him that she might have been named grand champion if she hadn't kicked the judge).

The International Futurity found champion honors with WSR Rocky's Image 200. Brink's Brangus had reserve grand champion bull and junior champion bull with Brink's General 683, and they also had senior champion heifer and reserve grand champion heifer with Miss BB General 435. The grand champion female award went to Cedar Springs Ranch of Greenbrier, Ark., managed by Dr. C. (Conrad) Moody, and owned by Dr. John Allen. She earlier had been named junior heifer calf champion. I named the Moody's and Allen when she was named to both of these champion-ship, and it always excited me to see owners so thrilled. This is the first "major" win they have had to date, but I'm sure we'll see more of them in the future.

Another great thing was started in Kerrville. We now officially have a women's group, the International Brangus Auxiliary, which is headed this year by President Sue Graven. The main and primary function of the ladies will be the awarding of college scholarships annually to junior members of the association—just as soon as we can get the money together to begin.

And the way the ladies were talking on that first day, it won't take long with averages in the sales of $4,900 in the Miss America, $1,915 in the Top of the Crop, and $5,509 in Brink's sale, plus all of these other events, you can see what an impressive three days we had in Kerrville.

We'll see you this Saturday in Durant, Okla., at the Indian Nations female sale (which includes the entire dispersal of the Kent Callahan herd of 40 females and 2 herd sires) and on June 25 at Waxahachie, Texas, for the annual Yellow Rose of Texas sale sponsored by the Pines & Plains

SANTA GERTRUDIS NEWS

The Santa Circuit

By BUDDY SMITH

SGBI has some new faces in Kingsville. Don Wideman takes over the reins as executive vice president; two new field directors have been hired: Charles Bradberry and Kenneth Ellis. Don had a Ph. D. tacked onto his name when he received his doctor's degree in reproductive physiology, but he prefers not to be called Dr. Wideman, because most people think Ph. D. stands for "piled high and deep." Don's path and mine have crossed several times over the years. Texas A&M while he was working on his Masters degree in animal genetics and I was working on my B. S. degree in animal science. The other time was when Don was with American Breeders Service and they leased James Bond 007. Don will be a big asset to the Santa Gertrudis breed, and I'm sure all the SGBI members will get behind him to promote the "Big Red."

I haven't had a chance to be around Kenneth Ellis much but I have known Charles Bradberry ever since his early days as one of the early members of the Mid-Coast Junior Santa Gertrudis Association. Both men come to the association with high credentials.

Say, speaking of Charles being active in the Mid-Coast Junior Santa Gertrudis Assn., two other youths in this organization need recognition. Douglas Dornack graduated from the college of vet. medicine at Texas A&M, and Kathy Wendt was accepted into that school of veterinary medicine.

The national junior heifer show is picking up a lot of steam. It will be held in Dallas in October, along with the regular junior show. In order for a youth to qualify, a youth must be a 4-H or FFA member and be selected by his local affiliated Santa Gertrudis Assn. This will be the most prestigious, not to mention the highest paying, Junior Santa Gertrudis show ever held.

The Madisonville Side Walk Cattleman's Assn. had their annual show on

Don Wideman Named SGBI Executive VP

Don Wideman, Ph.D., a widely experienced cattleman, has been named executive vice president of the Santa Gertrudis Breeders International and will assume his new duties at SGBI headquarters in Kingsville, Texas in 24 weeks, according to Vernon S. Smith, Dallas, president of the SGBI.

The 39-year-old San Antonio native assumes executive leadership of an organization that is on the threshold of both much growth, and of greater services to its members, especially in the areas of breed improvement and breeder relationships with, and sales to, commercial cattle producers, according to Smith.

Dr. Wideman was raised and received his public school education in the San Antonio area, was then graduated from Texas Tech in Lubbock with a degree in Animal Science, and received a master's degree from Texas A&M University, College Station, in animal breeding.

Following A&M he worked for a time with the Southwest Agricultural Research Institute, and with Esser Ranch at San Antonio.

He then went to Colorado State U. where he received a Ph.D. in reproductive physiology under Dr. Jim Wilbanks, after which he went to DeForest, Wis., as director of the beef cattle breeding program for American Breeders Service.

In July 1974, Wideman returned to Texas and became operations manager and an officer in WICO Land & Cattle Co., with headquarters at Tyler, a firm he was with until the Fall of 1976, when he went into his own cattle operations and agricultural consultant business.

In his cattle operations he has specialized in breeding Santa Gertrudis bulls to Brahman crossbred

SGBI Names Two New Field Directors

Kingsville — Santa Gertrudis Breeders International has announced the employment of two new field directors. They are Charles M. Bradberry at Cypress, Texas and Kenneth W. Ellis at Maypearl, Texas. They were named following a tryout with the breeders by the SGBI board of directors at a meeting held May 12.

Bradberry, 21, has recently received his BA degree in animal science from Texas A&M University. He spent his summers working as a ranch hand in Texas and Florida and was one of the first members of the Mid-Coast Junior SG Association. He has also worked part time for Josey Ranch at Cypress and for D. W. Smith at Huntsville, Texas. He was raised on a farm that produced soybeans and cattle. Bradberry was high individual at the Grand National Livestock Judging Contest at San Francisco and has participated in many SG and carcass beef judging contests.

Ellis, 27, has a degree in agricultural education from Sam Houston State University. He has been a volunteer agriculture teacher at Maypearl High School since he graduated from college in 1971. During high school, Ellis accumulated a herd of cattle of his own and was awarded the Lone Star Farmer Degree in 1968. He is married and his wife is employed as a substitute teacher. His employment is to begin with SGBI June 15.

Wideman said, Wideman added the one of the Santa Gertrudis breed's biggest opportunities is in the area of its usefulness to commercial beef producers.

Wideman, his wife, Lucille, a native of Bryan, and two sons will announce their new address at Kingsville soon.

Doug Fain: Santa Gertrudis Have More Positive Points Than Any Breed

Ladonia—Doug Fain, owner of Ponderosa Santa Gertrudis Ranch here, immediate past president of Premier Santa Gertrudis Breeders Association and still a member of the association's board of directors and on the executive committee says: "Santa Gertrudis are sound cattle, they perform well, people can afford them now, and I predict that no breed can hold a candle to these big red cattle in the future."

"There's a lot of good breeds of cattle, but I think Santa Gertrudis have more positive points in total than any of the other breeds," Fain says. Fain believes his own operation proves his point. With a herd of about 100 mother cows, he manages to generate a cash flow of about $100,000 per year on 700 acres of land.

"When everything is counted, allowing for investment and interest it could be earning elsewhere, taxes, labor, and time—the cattle business won't show a profit, but I believe I come nearer doing it with Santa Gertrudis than any other breed could," Fain says.

Enhancement in value of the land since Fain bought it 12 to 15 years ago at about $125 per acre to its current market value of about $800 per acre makes his Santa Gertrudis business look highly profitable on paper, especially since income taxes don't have to be paid on appreciation in land value until it's sold.

Two Santa Gertrudis heifer yearlings on Doug Fain's Ponderosa.

Buster Singleton, 13-year-old son of Bob Singleton, foreman of Doug Fain's Ponderosa Santa Gertrudis Ranch at Ladonia, is shown with Daisy Belle, a heifer he is grooming for a series of Santa Gertrudis junior heifer shows this fall. When the picture was made, the heifer had worn the halter only three days.

Fain's ranch office is lined with ribbons and trophies calves from his herd have taken in local and major stockshows, but he balances his breeding program with performance, and has had as many as 20 bulls on test at one time at Cooke County College at Gainesville.

Best of his heifers, however, do go to 4-H and FFA Club youngsters for showing, then starting herds, because he believes future of the cattle industry depends on getting young people interested in it and turning them into cattlemen of tomorrow. In that respect, Fain, being a past president of Premier Santa Gertrudis Assn., first and still largest affiliate of Santa Gertrudis Breeders International, and still a board and executive committee member of Premier, places a lot of importance on the Premier organization's junior heifer show at the State Fair of Texas, for which Premier will provide $4,000 in prize money this fall. That junior heifer show will be limited to four entries from each of the 18 affiliates of SGBI. The heifers must have been born between Jan. 1, 1976 and May 31, 1977, and have been owned and cared for by the contestant.

Fain believes visual certification of each animal by experts before registration by SGBI is important because it requires that "An animal look her part, rather than just having to have a pedigree behind her."

"Santa Gertrudis are sound cattle, they perform well, and I predict that the cattle business is going to get better, and that Santa Gertrudis will make an important contribution to that," Fain said.

A paradox of our governmental system is that appointees are often disappointments.

This is the latest addition to Doug Fain's Santa Gertrudis bull battery. The three-year-old bull came from Los Jabonillos Ranch and was purchased at the recent Winrock Farm sale at Marlin, Ark.

Performance of the Santa Gertrudis is what makes Fain like the three-eighths Brahman, five-eighths Shorthorn cattle. "I have selected for mother cows that weigh around 1,200 pounds which consistently wean calves weighing 600-650 pounds at six to seven months of age," he says.

That's from single-sire groups of 20-25 cows per sire, utilizing "bull power" from the T-69, General, Winrock, Tarzan, Johnny Martin's Masterpiece, and Vernon Smith's El Colina Ranches Apache bloodlines.

Fain lives at 4444 Crooked Lane in Dallas; his business, Bernard-Fain Carports, Inc., of which he's president, is at 4444 Lovers Lane; and he has persuaded Fain's County commissioners where his ranch is located on the edge of Ladonia, to name his road Fain Lane, so he can hang the number 4444 on the door.

Born and raised at Greenwood, about three miles west of Weatherford, Texas, Fain served in World War II, was educated in banking, then worked for Farmers & Merchants Bank at Weatherford, where he became an officer. Later he bought an interest in Bernard Carports from his uncle and moved to Dallas, where he became owner and president of the firm and named it Bernard-Fain, Inc. He is now a director and member of the executive committee of Inwood National Bank in Dallas; a member of the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport board and is chairman of its operations committee, one of two committees which operate the "World's largest airport," is a past president of the North Dallas Chamber of Commerce; is a past president of Park Cities Lions Club in Dallas; and is a member of the Dallas City Council and was deputy mayor of Dallas last term.

With a business, banking and civic service background like that, Fain explains going into the cattle business, which is fraught with difficulty where profits are concerned, by saying "You can take a boy out of the country out of the boy."

He has owned herds of registered Angus, Herefords, Charolais, and now Santa Gertrudis, a breed that was developed in Texas and combines the ruggedness and growth characteristics of the Brahman and the milk producing ability, docility, and choice beef producing characteristics of the Shorthorn.

"The Santa Gertrudis have proved highly adaptable to all climates, and are making a real contribution to the commercial cattle industry through their ability to increase weaning weights through cross-breeding," he said.

That's where Fain's major market has been—in commercial producers, especially Hereford breeders, who them into cattlemen of tomorrow.

In that respect, Fain, being a past president of Premier Santa Gertrudis Assn., first and still largest affiliate of Santa Gertrudis Breeders International, and still a board and executive committee member of Premier, places a lot of importance on the Premier organization's junior heifer show at the State Fair of Texas, for which Premier will provide $4,000 in prize money this fall. That junior heifer show will be limited to four entries from each of the 18 affiliates of SGBI. The heifers must have been born between Jan. 1, 1976 and May 31, 1977, and have been owned and cared for by the contestant.

Fain believes visual certification of each animal by experts before registration by SGBI is important because it requires that "An animal look her part, rather than just having to have a pedigree behind her."

"Santa Gertrudis are sound cattle, they perform well, and I predict that the cattle business is going to get better, and that Santa Gertrudis will make an important contribution to that," Fain said.

A paradox of our governmental system is that appointees are often disappointments.

NEWS about LIMOUSIN

Around The Limo Loop

BY KEN HOLLOWAY & BRUCE BROOKS

There are lots of new faces around the Limousin circle as well as the usual hard working breeders. The question that always comes to mind is "How did the new breeders learn about Limousin?" It is a logical question and one every sincere breeder should ponder.

We're not trying to get up on a soap box... just want to share a few thoughts with every purebred cat-herman. Most people get into a particular breed of cattle after first reading about the breed in livestock publications or seeing the cattle at a show or sale. Their next predictable move is that they will most likely visit an established breeder of the breed being considered. They don't pick a "big breeder or a little breeder; but normally a nearby well known and respected breeder.

This brings me to my points... how do some breeders expect a visitor or prospective buyer to find them? We have seen breeders who own some of the very best cattle worth thousands of dollars who "strike-out" when it comes to advertising. For example: they run paid advertisements without their phone number and/or directions to their farm or ranch; many breeders do not have any type of road sign and often times do not have their name on the mail box. Small wonder they don't have any visitors... the only people who know where they live are the mailman and a few neighbors.

Well, it's summer time and it's a good time to build a nice road sign promoting your chosen breed and your herd. Limousin breeders need not take a back seat to anyone. We've a great product that is easy to sell. Remember this old saying, "Build a better mousetrap and they'll beat a path to your door." It is not quite that easy... you must tell people about your better product, whether it be Limousin cattle or mousetraps. Won't you do your part. Other Limousin breeders have and have been well rewarded.

All-Limousin Steer Show Set Aug. 6 at Ardmore Fairgrounds

Ardmore, Okla. — An all-Limousin percentage steer show open to the world with a prize of $1,500 to owner of the champion and $750 for reserve champion will be held at Carter County Fairgrounds here beginning at 10 a.m., Aug. 6.

The show will be accompanied by an All-Black Limousin sale at 7 p.m., Aug. 6, which will follow a prelate entertainment at Budrick Farms at Manville, Okla. at 6 p.m. that day.

Rules for the steer show are: no age requirement for exhibitor nor limit on number of steers owned by an exhibitor; all steers must be percentage Limousin; classes will be split by weight with a limit of 30 steers per class; exhibitors will be required to wear a number; and the steers will be mouthed by a veterinarian with each steer required to have a full set of baby teeth.

A non-refundable $50 cash entry fee must accompany each entry and will be payable at weigh-in time. The entry fees will go toward paying premiums and cost of conducting the show. All premiums will be paid in cash at the conclusion of judging of each class. First place in each class will get $100.

Springfield, Mo. — The first national junior Limousin heifer show will be held Aug. 11 in conjunction with the Ozark Empire Fair at Springfield.

Cattle will arrive Tuesday, Aug. 9, and a watermelon feed will follow in the barn that afternoon.

Glen Spafford and Mary Griswold Vantrasse will conduct a fitting and grooming demonstration that afternoon.

Show time is 1 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 11. Dr. Bob Kopp, Oklahoma State University will conduct the heifer show and showmanship contest.

Showmanship will feature two divisions, juniors ages up to 18 years, and seniors from 14 to 21 years old.

The Missouri state Limousin sale will be held that night.

An open Limousin show will also be held at the Ozark Empire Fair at 1:30 p.m., Aug. 12, and will be followed by a barbecue picnic that evening.

The annual meeting of the North American Limousin Junior Assn. will be held Saturday, Aug. 12, followed by a swimming party at Howard Johnson's motel.

Only heifers of 75 percent or higher Limousin blood are eligible and entries must be under two years of age. No more than three heifers may be shown by any one exhibitor and entries must be registered in the name of the exhibitor.

Deadline for entries is July 8, with entry blanks available from Ozark Empire Fair.

Information is also available from North American Limousin Foundation, 100 Livestock Exchange Building, Denver, Colo. 80216, phone 809/623-8544.

Budrick's Vintage II Solid In Demand

A good solid sale. That's the way observers at the Budrick Farms Vintage II production sale described both the cattle and the action, Saturday, (CONT. ON PAGE 26)

Camille and Willard Pfluger are shown with some of their approximately 200 Limousin cattle in background.

Willard Pfluger, Limousin Breeder, Believes Cattle Business Looking Up

Pflugerville—Willard Pfluger, president of Texas Limousin Assn., believes the cattle business is "looking up," but has a long way to go before it could be called sound.

But Pfluger and his wife Camille may have more reason to be optimistic than most beef cattle producers, because they have one of the best Limousin herds in the state.

Heading up the Pflugers' herd are two pureblood bulls, Adrian, a bull imported from Sweden and from the famous Roesigol family; and a younger sire, Francois, of Nordic Design breeding from Nordic Farms in Canada.

Pfluger breeds artificially for about 45 days beginning around Dec. 1 each year, then holds his bulls out for another 30 days, then turns them to do clean-up breeding for cows and when bred to the same bull naturally. This program has worked for the Pflugers, and gives the calves that are the right age to fit the junior livestock show program, where many of their Limousin show go as 4-H and FFA club projects.

The Pflugers' Limousin cow lot consists of halfbloods to seven-eighths purebreds, and recently the 16/16ths bull was born on the ranch.

Pfluger's belief that the business will get better is based on the large cow slaughter cattle have voluntarily conducted to bring better balance to the supply demand for beef, plus the belief (CONT. ON PAGE 25) the new USDA beef grading standards will permit production of acceptable beef at a lower cost by doing more of it on grass or low-cost, high-roughage rations.

That's where I believe the Limousin breed is going to come to the front—our cows have proven to be good "scrubbers" and don't demand a lot of feeding," he said. (That's with show season has Limousin heifer shows lined up at both the State Fair severe winters like the last one.)

Pfluger likes his mature cows to weigh 1,000 to 1,100 pounds that wean calves weighing 500 to 550 pounds, or more when creep fed.

As president of TLA, Pfluger is actively promoting expansion of Limousin heifer shows at major stock shows throughout the state. The next year, then turns Adrian and his other fullblood Limousin bull, Francois, a Nordic Design son, in with the cows for clean-up.

Exposition and Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth. Work is being done on similar shows for San Antonio and Houston, but space in those show facilities is not presently available.

Showing, Pfluger believes, is important, but must be balanced by performance. In that respect, he is also promoting Limousin bull performance testing and a Limousin bull feed test will be conducted beginning this fall at Abilene Christian University's Allen Farm at Abilene. Ray Sims, Baird, of Dyer-Sims Limousins, is chairman of the bull test committee.

"With the large number of championships Limousin cross steers have taken at major livestock shows, both on hoof and in the carcass classes, we know that the Limousin crosses are here to stay," Pfluger said.

"What I'm trying to do is build up a pureblood herd, so that I can

Kimbell MEDICATED FEEDS ARE MONEY MAKERS

It goes without saying that no program or type of feed can guarantee a profit on a particular set of livestock. However, it is possible to guarantee that with proper management a feeding program will make livestock more valuable — better money makers.

KIMBELL Medicated Feeds Are Designed to Improve Animal Health and Balance Nutrition

This type of program improves the appearance, gives livestock that "good doing" look — this convinces your buyers they are "worth more."

This type of program actually makes your livestock "do better" — control of disease and parasites adds pounds — they are "worth more."

Texas Maine-Anjou Field Day, Sale Set June 25 At New Braunfels

New Braunfels — Texas Maine-Anjou Association will hold a field day and consignment sale at Nor-Tex Farms 18 miles north of San Antonio on Interstate 35 beginning at 1:30 p.m., Saturday, June 25.

Calvin Fryar, Brownwood, president of Texas Maine-Anjou Assn., said an interesting program is being arranged for the field day on synchronization and breeding by artificial insemination, and on herd bull selection.

The sale will feature 50 lots consisting of 10 fullblood Maine-Anjou and 40 lots of purebred and seven-eighths Maine-Anjou breeding cattle, plus 20 three-quarter and seven-eighths Maine-Anjou bulls from the top animals on the current bull test at Howard Payne University's bull test center at Brownwood. That test will be concluded June 17 and complete data will be available on all the test bulls.

"The Maine-Anjou bulls from the Howard Payne test have proven highly popular with commercial cattle breeders, particularly from South Texas, so we believe it's appropriate to take the bulls to where the strongest market has developed," Fryar said.

"Maine-Anjou percentage bulls have proven highly popular with commercial cattle producers, because of the added weight they put on calves at weaning time," Fryar said.

Cattle for the sale, which is the largest offering of high percentage and fullblood Maine-Anjou ever made in Texas, are being consigned by leading breeders over the U. S. and in Canada, Fryar said.

For the field day, there will be a large display of Fullblood and high percentage cattle in addition to the sale cattle.

Sale headquarters will be the Travel Lodge Inn at the San Antonio airport, phone 512/828-9031. Further information on the field day and sale is available from Dr. R. C. Norman, owner of Nor-Tex Farms, phone 512/668-1560 at home or 512/696-3280 at the office, or ranch manager, A. O. White, 612/625-7925; or Calvin Fryar, president of Texas Maine-Anjou Assn., P. O. Box 1508, Brownwood, Texas 76801, phone 915/646-1584 at the office or 915/646-9488 at home.
